Ngorongoro Crater

Nearly three million years old, the ancient caldera shelters one of the most beautiful wildlife havens on earth. Abundant in diversity, this UNESCO World Heritage Site is also one of the seven natural wonders of Africa.

Why Visit Ngorongoro Crater?

Experience a safari in the largest intact caldera in the world, where endangered black rhino and giant tusked elephant are protected within its rim.

1

THE WORLDS LARGEST INTACT CALDERA

Once a gigantic volcano, the Ngorongoro Crater in northern Tanzania is now the largest inactive, intact and unfilled caldera in the world. Some maintain that, before it erupted, it would have been higher than Mount Kilimanjaro, the highest peak in Africa. Today, long since having collapsed and eroded, it is an extensive highland area with the famous 600m (2 000ft) deep crater as its focal point.

2

VISIT ONE OF THE NATURAL WONDERS OF THE WORLD

This UNESCO World Heritage Site deserves a place on your map. There are few places on earth where such a diversity of landscapes exist inside a region the size of the Ngorongoro Conservation Area. The turbulence of fracturing, rifting, and volcanic activity, as well as on-going erosion have shaped a contrasting panorama of peaks, craters, valleys, plains and lakes.

3

THE WILDLIFE

The spectacular assemblage of wildlife within the Crater is one of the world's wonders, and close encounters with wildlife in this Garden of Eden are always memorable. With one of the highest densities of lions and hyena in Africa, an estimated 25 000 large mammals are resident in this bowl of plenty, including the endangered black rhino and leopard.

4

THE ANCIENT CULTURE

Some of mankind's earliest ancestors are known to have lived in the Ngorongoro area, where the rich fossil sites of Olduvai Gorge and Laetoli have earned this part of the continent the title of Cradle of Mankind. Today, over 60 000 predominantly Maasai pastoralists inhabit the area, tending their herds of cattle, sheep and goats and living in peaceful coexistence with the wildlife.
